1. PROJECT SUMMARY

Increasing unprofessionalism crisis in education and unemployment rate in Cameroon has led to high political and leadership apathy. This one day capacity building workshop at a cost of 500,000 FCFA aim to empower 100 participants with entrepreneurial and leadership knowledge and skills, to enable them build sustainable businesses while actively/ productively/cohesively participating in leadership and decision-making process in Bamenda. The expected outcome is to build One Entrepreneur & One Leader at a time. Media and designed flyers are the main communication channels. Identified risks include: insecurity, financial constraints, limited participant engagement and logistic challenges. Mitigation measures are; contingency plan, diversified funding sources, participant motivation and alternative hall. Number of participants, business ideas/plans generated and workshop reports are the main evaluation criteria. Sustainability plan involves an annual (9 months) mentorship/follow-up training of 100 youths (aged: 18-35) at the Exceptional Vocational Training and Entrepreneurship Center (EVTEC) in Bamenda.

2. PROJECT BACKGROUND

The Professionalism crisis in education and unemployment rate in Cameroon has led to high political and leadership apathy. Most citizens, especially youths who are highly affected, stress more in job hunting than being proactive to engage in in leadership and governance to drive policy changes. Unprofessionalism in education has yielded more of passive graduates, thus, hindering citizen engagement in leadership and governance. The anticipated capacity-building workshop on Entrepreneurship and Citizen Engagement in Leadership and Democratic Governance for 100 youths in Bamenda Urban Community is crucial for several reasons. However, this project focuses on addressing the pressing issues within the urban area of Mankon and Nkwen Community of Bamenda City.

1. Idleness: Engaging youths in productive activities, reducing idle time and vulnerability to negative peer influences.
2. Unemployment: Equipping youths with entrepreneurial skills to create jobs and stimulate economic growth.
3. Insecurity: Fostering community cohesion and promoting peaceful conflict resolution.
3. Drug abuse: Providing alternatives to substance abuse through empowerment and purposeful engagement.

Why Bamenda Urban Community?

1. High concentration of vulnerable youths: Targeting those most affected by insecurity, unemployment, and idleness.
2. Limited access to financial resources for start-ups.

Essential Goals: Empowering youths via;

1. Leadership development: Enhancing participation in democratic governance and community decision-making.
2. Civic education: Informing youths about their rights and responsibilities.
3. Entrepreneurial mindset: Encouraging innovation, self-reliance, and economic independence.

3. PROBLEM STATEMENT

Increasing unprofessionalism in education and unemployment rate in Cameroon has led to high political and leadership apathy. Citizens, especially Youths in Bamenda II Municipality face unemployment, idleness, insecurity, and limited civic engagement, hindering their potential and community development. The ultimate goal is to enhance the capacity of citizens in the Bamenda II Municipality in entrepreneurship and citizen engagement, promoting peaceful and sustainable community development. Thus, this capacity-building workshop is necessary because:

1. Unemployment and idleness among youths fuel insecurity and social unrest.
2. Limited civic education and engagement hinder democratic participation.
3. Entrepreneurial skills are essential for economic empowerment.
4. Community cohesion and social responsibility are critical for peaceful coexistence.

The rationale here is that by addressing these challenges, this workshop project will:

1. Empower youths with entrepreneurial skills and knowledge.
2. Foster civic engagement and democratic participation.
3. Promote community cohesion and social responsibility.
4. Contribute to peacebuilding and economic development in Bamenda II Municipality.

This clear problem statement and rationale provide a solid foundation for this workshop project, highlighting its necessity and potential impacts.

4. SUMMARY SCHEDULED ACTIVITIES/STRATEGY AND MAIN BENEFICIARIES

Main Strategy: Capacity Building and Professional Programs

Alternative Strategy: Admission into 9 months Vocational Training course on Entrepreneurship and Leadership and sponsoring business plans upon certification.

7. ACHIEVEMENTS AND RESULTS

- Summary of Key Achievements:
- Output Details:

The main accomplishments and achievement of this PiO activity include;

- Number of Beneficiaries: Mobilized 115 participants in our ECEL Workshop forum on WhatsApp who participated online/offline in Entrepreneurship and Leadership training. The physical workshop witnessed 18 persons in attendance. We had 25 participants in the online complementary PiO Webinar on Entrepreneurship and Meaningful Youth Participation. Over 100 persons received mentorship on civic engagement and meaningful youth participation in our ECEL Whatsapp Forum.

- Services Delivered: A total of 30 participants (aged 18-30 years) filled and submitted their PEDEL Project/Business Idea Forms (see Annex) and working on their business plans based on the format issued.

- Impact: 43 participants benefitted entrepreneurship and leadership knowledge and skills. Over 115 participants are receiving continuous online mentorship on various issues related to entrepreneurship and citizen engagement in leadership.

- Overall Accomplishments: Over 115 participants are being mentored online, 43 participants have benefitted knowledge and skills in entrepreneurship and leadership. Over 30 participants filled our PEDEL Project/Business Idea Development Forms and submitted online. We have 30 participants who fill our Pre-Workshop Survey form and the results reveals that all participants are willing to write and submit their business plans to seek funding.

8. CHALLENGES AND MITIGATION MEASURES

- Key Challenges:

Key Challenges encountered during the implementation of the PiO Activity:

- Venue: We had challenges of securing British Library in Bamenda II, Municipality, which was the proposed venue. They weren't operational as the area was under security threats from the separatist fighters who were kidnapping business persons around.
- The proposed community (Ntambag) for the PiO training was under insecurity and the leaders had internal conflicts to handle. As such, it was difficult to host the event in Ntambag under the prevailing conditions and within the deadline for submitting PiO.
- Unprecedented Ghost Towns: The town was suddenly locked down on Saturday 21st by the separatist fighters with serious threats. This affected the attendance on Sunday as there was serious traffic and busy schedules against the Festive Period.
- Late Coming and Low Attendance: The attendance expected was 50 youths aged 18-35 years. We had 18 participants and the complaints were bad roads and high traffic on Sunday morning.

- Lack of electricity and poor network connections was a major problem that derailed and affected effective delivery of online trainings or webinar. We struggled to use Google Meet and Whastapp Group call interchangeably. Zoom Conference App was a little bit difficult to use by participants as it is a heavy to install and the poor network didn't make it easier.

- Mitigation Measures:

Mitigation Measures adopted to carry out this Pass-it-On workshop activity include;

- Alternative and secured venue: The Green Globe Organisation Office situated at Paper House, Ghana Street, and Bamenda was negotiated and used. It is not far from the initial venue and the taxi cost is 200 Frs. It was preferred because the National Centre for Civic Education and Promotion is situated on the same building.
- A complementary Online Webinar on Entrepreneurship and Leadership: To combat the low attendance which resulted from several key challenges stated above, I thought it wise and hosted a Complementary Online Webinar in the ECEL WhatsApp forum. We had 25 persons in attendance.
- We offered and are offering continuous mentorship to over 115 participants in ECEL Forum and 40 honorary members or ambassadors in the Networking Forum of ISEEYou4Change.

9. FEEDBACK FROM BENEFICIARIES

- Beneficiary Perspectives

The Following Feedback from the participants/Beneficiaries were noted:

- Increased Awareness and Zeal or willingness to participate in Entrepreneurship and Leadership: Participants demonstrated a better comprehension of the link between business and leadership and why they should participated. Hence, they had more enthusiasm to participate now in fostering good governance.
- Empowerment and Mentorship: 40 participants were trained on how to develop their business idea and plans and how to seek funding. Participants saw the need to become more of Active Citizens than being passive citizens in decision-making process.

- Increased Engagement: Participants appreciated the participatory, interactive approach, citing storytelling and personal experiences as particularly effective in conveying the real life experiences.
- Improved Communication and Advocacy skills: 5 participants shared real life experiences on Drug Abuse. Their stories centered on nearest kindred, relatives or friends and neighbors who lost their sanity, career and businesses and now idling or death. It was a heart touching experience.

Key Observations during the implementation this Pass-it-On (PiO) Activity reveals:

- Active Participation: Participants in discussions, sharing their thoughts and ideas and affiliated to a CSO or Volunteering in civic and democratic activities to influence decision-making in their various neighborhoods.

- Improved Public Speaking Skills: Participants demonstrated bravery and confidence in expressing their opinions and presenting recommendations

- Acknowledgments of good services: All participants were glad to see the rise and existence of an initiative like ISEEYou4Change, which doesn't only train but subsequently mentor participants to achieve their desired goals for free.

The feedback and observations indicate that this Pass-it-On (PiO) activity successfully empowered young leaders from Bamenda II and III and Tubah Subdivisions to promote/enhance Entrepreneurship and Citizen Engagement Leadership and Democratic Governance.

10. LESSONS LEARNED

- Key Takeaways:

The pilot Pass-It-On (PiO) workshop highlighted some essential and impactful takeaways. These include;

- Hosting workshop or PiO events nowadays without funding enough to reimburse transport negatively impacts participation in the activity. Meanwhile, Assurance of Transport reimbursement and availability of feeding encourages attendance.
- Hosting a training event during Festive Period can be highly challenging as well as easy to facilitate based on location and economic context.

- Interactive approaches such as storytelling and personal experiences are effective in conveying messages and engaging participants.
- Collaborating with community Leaders conflict zones is very challenging, requiring careful planning, patience and effective communication.
- Despite initial scheduling of conflicts, this PiO activity's success demonstrates the value of being visionary, resilient and adaptable to achieve a desired goal, despite challenges and issues.
- In a nutshell, the interactive session received positive feedback from participants, indicating a significant impact on their understanding of hate speech and its effects.
- With every challenge, there is an opportunity to exploit as alternative solution. Rejections and disappointments are normal with little expectations. Challenges are temporal and shouldn't make one to give up, because better days are ahead.

- Recommendations:

Upon the implementation of this pilot project, I suggest that initiatives like ISEEYou4Change requires funding and promotion to be sustainable. Thus, initiatives with similar objectives should adhere to the following recommendations:

- Mobilize and leverage grants, donors or external funding sources to organize fully funded trainings and sponsorship programs.
- Establish partnerships with financial institutions to achieve future goals of seeking funding for developed business plans.
- Leverage technology (ICT tools and Social Media Platforms) to expand reach and engagement.
- Continuously evaluate and adapt strategies for optimal results.
- Always have a contingency plan to address potential logistical challenges or settling conflicts.
- Continuously post reminders about important outputs needed to achieve the outcomes.
- Foster a strong spirit of solidarity and effective collaboration among stakeholders to ensure a successful and sustainable initiative.
